TO THE PARISHONERS OF THE
FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH,
EVERETT, MASSACHUSETTS:

It is with great pleasure that I extend to you the congratulations and best wishes of the Commonwealth on the occasion of the 125th Anniversary of the First Congregational Church of Everett.

This is a time for reflection on past traditions and a time for renewed faith in the future. All of you who have given so much to your church and community recognize the strong moral foundation upon which our society is built, and you can take great pride in the leadership you provide for your community in the service of humanity. I know that you will continue to uphold this tradition and I extend my warm best wishes to you all.

Sincerely

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
HISTORICAL SKETCH

The church in the Square with the town clock in its steeple has been a familiar Everett landmark for four generations of our citizens. The early history and growth of Everett's first church parallels the early history and growth of the city itself. The two have been closely identified.

In 1847 when our history began, the region in which we now live was still a part of the Town of Malden and known as the South District. Within a one-mile radius of the district schoolhouse (where the Central Fire Station now stands) the population was about 600. There was no place of worship here. Those disposed to church attendance travelled to Malden Center, Charlestown, Chelsea or Boston. It was Miss Joanna T. Oliver, a resident of Chelsea Street, who first became concerned about a region "so attractive by nature. . . becoming a moral and spiritual wasteland". With the help and encouragement of the Rev. Mr. McClure of the Malden Church she started a Sabbath School. The first class was held on the first Sunday of May, 1847, in the hall of the old schoolhouse.

The Sabbath School was a success from the beginning, with an increased attendance at each session. Noting this, certain of our citizens began to realize the need for a church in this area. A group of these citizens met and called on neighboring clergy for advice and guidance. A decision was made to hold Sunday services in the school hall on an experimental basis for six months. The Rev. Joseph A. Benton was called to "supply the pulpit" during that interval. It is in his fine Spencerian handwriting that this early history is recorded. (Rev. Benton later joined the Westward migration, settling finally in California where he became a well known journalist and started the first newspaper in the state of California. He is also recorded as one of those who organized California's first college.)

On March 8, 1848, believing that the experiment had been sufficiently tried, a Committee of Organization met at the home of Uriah Oakes with instructions to draw up Articles of Faith and to arrange for a meeting of the Council of Churches. This Council convened on March 16, 1848 with Dr. Edward Beecher as Moderator. The churches represented were Old South,

Mt. Vernon, Pine Street and Salem of Boston; First and Bethesda of Charlestown; Trinitarian of Malden; Winnisimmet of Chelsea. Having previously elected to worship "the Congregational way" our church was duly instituted as Winthrop Congregational Church. (Apparently it had been expected that the district would eventually become the Town of Winthrop). Our first Communion Service was held on June 4, 1848, with the Rev. F.T. Perkins of East Cambridge officiating.

The Rev. Mr. Benton continued as pastor for a year before leaving for the West aboard the "Edward Everett" which sailed around Cape Horn to reach California. In October 1849 the Rev. Francis G. Pratt was installed as first regular pastor of the church. During his nine-year ministry the land on which the church stands was purchased from the Whittemore family and erection of the church building began. The cornerstone was laid at a sunrise service attended by "a great concourse of people". The building was of early New England type architecture with straight walls and a tall spire (later removed for safety reasons) and painted white. It stood on the lot devoid of other buildings from Church Street to Norwood Street. It was subsequently enclosed by a white picket fence extending back to the Devens School area. The large open space at the back was used for tying up horses and carriages. Inside, a staircase on each side of the entrance led to the Sanctuary which contained stall-type white pews, mahogany trimmed, giving a seating capacity of 350. A straight balcony across the back of the Sanctuary held the choir and a pump organ. At that time it was customary for the congregation, when singing, to turn and face the balcony.

Dedication of the new church took place on December 8, 1852, and the first Sunday service was held on December 12th. The erection of this church was a gigantic task for the small community, most of whose people were comparatively poor. There were many financial difficulties. But diligent work and the earnest prayers of our citizens were rewarded. It was a community effort. Since it was the only church in the area, it was attended and supported by citizens of many denominations. The first Sunday School superintendent was Calvin Hosmer, a Baptist . . . as was Alonzo Evans of the prudential committee. Dr. Wakefield, an Episcopalian, presented the bell for the steeple. The town clock was later given by Mrs. Robert M. Barnard in memory of her husband, a Universalist. It appears that the ecumenical spirit, supposedly a present day development, was actually a cornerstone of Everett's first church.

In 1859 a division of opinion in a matter of policy resulted in a group of 16 members withdrawing to form a Chapel Church on Cottage Street. This group continued for about two years with Rev. Mr. Angier as pastoral supply. However, continuing efforts on the part of some concerned members, pastors and the Church Council resulted in the resolving of differences and a reunion of Winthrop and Chapel Churches in 1861 as South Malden (later Everett) Congregational Church. The reunion was effected, it is recorded, "in a spirit of Christian love and forbearance. . . in the interests of Christs' Church and for the moral, social and civil welfare of the community".

In spite of its own early struggles, the church has been ever mindful of its responsibility to the community at large. In addition to serving as a house of worship, First Church has played its part through the years as a meeting place, lyceum and lecture hall for the community. Many of the prominent New England clergy and outstanding orators have spoken from its pulpit. Anti-slavery speeches have resounded through the Vestry during the Civil War era. A memorial service for President Lincoln was held here following his assassination. For the first year after Everett's incorporation as a town in 1870, all town meetings were held in the Vestry of the Church. At the time of the great Chelsea fire, the same Vestry served as a hospital for injured and homeless victims. Throughout the years the Vestry has continued to be used for many church and community activities . . . dramatics and musicals, banquets and bazaars, club and youth programs, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts. For the past two years the Oliver Room of the Vestry has provided day school activities for a group of our tiny citizens under the auspices of the Greater Boston Association for Retarded Children.

The Courtland Street Mission was originated in 1885 and was largely sustained by workers from this church until it resulted in the organization of the Courtland Street Congregational Church in 1891. In 1893 a group of our members demitted and joined together with a similar group from First Church of Malden in organizing the Mystic Side Congregational Church to meet the needs of our citizens in that section of the town. Mr. Frank E. Vaughan was a pioneer member of the City Missionary Society. The Tileston Street Mission was founded by Mrs. George A. Brown, mother of Judge Nelson P. Brown, and a member of First Church. In the face of tremendous odds she carried on there for many years with the assistance of Mrs. George F. Silsby, Mrs. L. M. Gates and others. This mission was taken over by our church in 1894, but was eventually discontinued due to changed conditions. The spiritual outreach of First Church has extended beyond local boundaries.

Miss Minnie Brown, daughter of a former pastor, went out as a foreign missionary to Turkey. Miss Lillian Norton, a teacher of music, eventually went to India as a missionary in the Calcutta area where she remained for a number of years, finally returning to California. The Rev. Edward Payson Holten was ordained in this church on the afternoon of May 14, 1891. He was installed as a missionary at an evening service that same day and then left for India under the auspices of the American Board, serving there for 33 years. Miss Isabelle Marshall was married to the Rev. Edwin Carey Davis on September 8, 1895 in a ceremony performed by the Rev. Arthur B. Patten. In 1902, they sailed for India under the United Missionary Society of the Disciples of Christ, of which Rev. Davis was a member. They worked in Central India until 1935. On June 15, 1947 the Rev. and Mrs. Maxwell Welch were commissioned as First Church missionaries in an afternoon service, and later left for Angola Mission in Portuguese West Africa.

In 1892 the church building was remodeled and enlarged to seat 600. The choir and organ were moved to an extended section behind the pulpit. The balcony was enlarged and the present oak furnishings installed. A rededication service was held on Christmas Day, just 40 years after the original dedication. That same month Everett became incorporated as a city and on January 2, 1893 Alonzo H. Evans, a member of the church, was elected Everett's first mayor.

Again in 1954 the church embarked upon a five-year improvement campaign during which large-scale structural improvements and renovations were made in both church and parsonage. The Vestry area was remodeled giving us a new church parlor, church office and more up-to-date kitchen facilities.

The ecumenical spirit which prevailed at the founding of Everett's first church has continued through the years in many forms. We have welcomed to our pulpit clergy of all denominations. Locally, our varying congregations have enjoyed most cordial relations . . . and particularly through our young people's groups and our women's church societies. Many of us can recall an era during which our ministers would "pull a switch" on us without warning, and we would arrive at church on Sunday morning to find a neighboring pastor in the pulpit! Nationally, in 1929 we joined with our sister churches in the fellowship of Congregational-Christian Churches. Again, in 1961, after much thoughtful deliberation, we joined in the merger with Evangelical and Reformed Churches which resulted in the organization of the United Church of Christ. The first ecumenical wedding in our church took place on December 7, 1968 when Donna Jean Melvin married Stephen W. Blake in a ceremony performed by the Rev. Robert L. Stiles and Father Michael J. Higgins.

Since 1848 twenty-six pastors have served this church in its ministry to the spiritual and social needs of four generations of Everett citizens. The longest pastorate was that of the Rev. Hugh MacCallum who served for eighteen years (1920-1938). In his honor, the church Vestry has been named MacCallum Hall. Our present pastor is the Rev. Robert L. Stiles who also serves as pastor of First United Presbyterian Church. These two churches, together with First United Methodist Church, are currently engaged in our newest ecumenical effort on a local level . . . The Everett Cooperative Parish. At this point in 1973 the three congregations have already voted on a union of their Churches.

Many historic milestones have been celebrated throughout the years, including the week-long, city-wide 100th anniversary observance in 1948. All have been the scene of happy reunions of ministers and members from near and far. All have recalled happy memories of the past and voiced bright hopes for the future. At the 50th anniversary Rev. William Sweet observed: "Ministers and members have come and gone; people have come onto our stage of existence and have passed away; voices have spoken and then become silent. But the same old bell has called forth our church congregations to unbroken worship." And now it calls us back to the observance of our 125th anniversary, First Church still stands upon the same foundation. Its spire still points upward towards the source of our faith.

"The Lord hath done great things for us, whereof we are glad."

(Psalm 126: 3)

HYMN OF PRAISE: "Immortal Invisible"

No. 7

INVOCATION: Almighty God, our Father, we pray for thy Church, which is set to-day amid the perplexities of a changing order and face to face with a great new task. We remember with love the nurture she gave to our spiritual life in its infancy, the tasks she set for growing strength, the influence of the devoted hearts she gathers, the steadfast power for good she has exerted. When we compare her with all human institutions, we rejoice, for there is none like her. But when we judge her by the mind of her Master, we bow in contrition. O God, baptize her afresh in the life giving spirit of Jesus! Put upon her lips the ancient gospel of her Lord. Fill her with the prophet's scorn of tyranny, and with a Christlike tenderness for the heavyladen and downtrodden. Bid her cease from seeking her own life, lest she lose it. Make her valiant to give up her life to humanity that like her crucified Lord she may mount by the path of the cross to a higher glory; through the same Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

LORDS PRAYER: "And forgive us the wrong we have done as we forgive those who have wronged us."

GLORIA PATRI

RESPONSIVE READING:

Rev. Robert A. Roberts

How amiable are thy tabernacles, O Lord of hosts:

MY SOUL LONGS, YES, EVEN FAINTS FOR THE COURTS OF THE LORD:

My heart and my flesh cry out for the living God.

YES, THE SPARROW HATH FOUND HER A SPOUSE, AND THE SWALLOW A NEST FOR HERSELF WHERE SHE MAY LAY HER YOUNG:

Even thine altars, O Lord of hosts, my king and my God.

BLESSED ARE THEY THAT DWELL IN THY HOUSE: THEY WILL BE STILL PRAISING THEE.

Blessed is the man whose strength is in thee: in whose heart are the highways to Zion.

WHO, PASSING THROUGH THE VALLEY OF WEEPING, MAKE IT A PLACE OF SPRING;

Yes, the early rain covers it with blessings.

THEY GO FROM STRENGTH TO STRENGTH: EVERY ONE OF THEM
APPEARETH BEFORE GOD IN ZION.

For a day in thy courts is better than a thousand.

I HAD RATHER BE A DOORKEEPER IN THE HOUSE OF MY GOD, THAN TO DWELL IN THE TENTS OF WICKEDNESS.

For the Lord is a sun and a shield:

THE LORD WILL GIVE GRACE AND GLORY:

No good thing will be withheld from them that walk uprightly.

O LORD OF HOSTS, BLESSED IS THE MAN THAT TRUSTS IN THEE.

Holy, Holy, Holy, is the Lord of hosts:

THE WHOLE EARTH IS FULL OF HIS GLORY.

The Lord is in his holy temple:

LET ALL THE EARTH KEEP SILENCE BEFORE HIM.

Thus saith the Lord, Heaven is my throne, and the earth is my footstool:

O COME, LET US SING UNTO THE LORD: LET US COME BEFORE HIS PRESENCE WITH THANKSGIVING AND MAKE A JOYFUL NOISE UNTO HIM WITH PSALMS.
